

Continue on your Travels!

Travel is one of the industries worst affected by the coronavirus pandemic. This means that once the world returns to normal, the industry will see a massive resurgence so it is vital that you keep your knowledge and understanding up to date.

	Down Under: Travels in a Sunburned Country Wild: From Lost to Found on the Pacific Crest Trail An Idiot Abroad BBC: The Travel Show Globe Trekker Joanna Lumley's Japan Jack Whitehall: Travels with my Father		Lonely Planet: Ultimate Travelist The 500 Best Places on the Planet Destinations of a Lifetime: 225 of the World's Most Amazing Places Overbooked: The Explodin Business of Travel and Tourism Gordon, Gino and Fred's Roadtrip Airline The Cruise Britain's Busiest Airport The Hotel
	Flight of Fancy The Budget Minded Traveller The Thoughtful Travel Podcast Women who Travel Zero to Travel		Amateur Traveller This Week in Travel Extra Pack of Peanuts Wild Ideas Worth Living Haunted Tourism

	Eat Pray Love	The Secret Life of Walter Mitty	180 Degrees South	The Best Exotic Marigold Hotel	Into the Wild

There are very few websites that are specific to BTEC courses.

A better use of the internet is to spend some time visiting the websites of some of the travel and tourism organisations that we have studied or that we will study in the future for example:

www.beamish.org.uk

www.tui.co.uk

www.altontowers.co.uk

www.expedia.com

www.tripadvisor.com

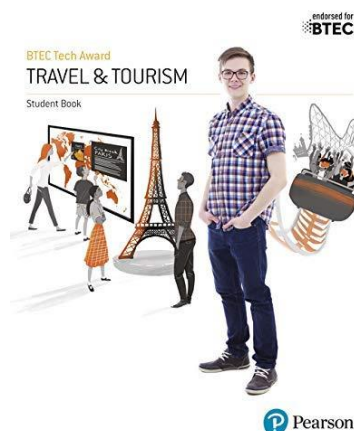

www.newcastleairport.com

www.jet2holidays.com

www.disneyworld.co.uk

www.visitengland.co.uk

Remember to look at the services each organisation offers, the way they communicate with customers, the range of products and services they sell and the other organisations that they work with.

We are completing the BTEC Level1/2 Tech Award in Travel and Tourism. You can access the website for this at <https://qualifications.pearson.com/en/qualifications/btec-tech-awards/travel-and-tourism.html>.